Main part of Sweater: G Hook

I used the above Granny Square stitch to make the main part of the sweater.

I would do 3 rounds of each color

I made 33 rounds. You can do more or less depending on the size

After you have made the main part in the size you want you then put 2 corners together to form the armholes.

I used stitch markers to hold the corners together while I used the Fisherman color and my I hook to SC around the large opening of the sweater.

I made 3 Rounds of HDC in the Fisherman color

Changed color to Navy

Made 3 Rounds of DC

Changed color to Charcoal

Made 4 Rounds of DC

Tie off and weave in ends.

Sleeves: Using I Hook

Attach the yarn at the point of where the corners were were put together and SC around armhole opening

Now you will flip your sweater inside out because you will slip stitch the armhole closed and leaving a small opening. You want the seam to be on the inside of your sweater.

You are going to slip stich until you have 40 sts left for your sleeve (you can leave a smaller or larger opening)

Once you made your opening, you then Sc around the sleeve opening.

I then made 3 rounds of Hdc's

I then made 4 rounds of Dc's

Then I made 4 round of FPDC & BPDC

Tie off and weave in ends

You can add a toggle button which I might do but for now I just wrap myself in it

I have gotten a lot of compliments on this so I'm super stoked to share it so you can make it for yourself or a friend

My older daughter has requested one as well, so I hope to have a child size pattern coming soon

All Done!

I hope you enjoy it. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to ask.
